The county commissioners will be represented. The Brainerd Business Men's Association has taken action, as witnessed by the two letters following:

Brainerd, Minn., Aug. 8, 1917.
Mr. P. B. Nettleton,
Brainerd, Minn.,
My dear Mr. Nettleton:

I am pleased to inform you that our president A. T. Fisher, was much gratified by your request to appoint a committee to act with you in re your Brainerd Public Market proposition.

As we feel that a successful move of this kind would mean much to Brainerd and farming community. Therefore, Mr. Fisher has appointed W. E. Erickson, W. H. Cleary and A. K. Lukens as such committee and feels that these men are peculiarly fitted for such a position and trust that they will be of great assistance to you.

We also feel that if such a thing is possible, our Association is more vitally interested in the successful outcome of your proposition than any other civic organization of our county.

As you will see by the enclosed copy, we have notified our committee of their appointments. If any of this committee cannot serve, Mr. Fisher will appoint a substitute and notify you accordingly.

Trusting that you will succeed and assuring you that our Association will do all in their power to forward your project.

I am yours resp'y,
A. L. HOFFMAN,
Secretary.

Aug. 8, 1917.

Mr. W. H. Cleary,
Brainerd, Minn.,
My dear Mr. Cleary:

I presume you have heard or read about the P. B. Nettleton move towards establishing a public market in Brainerd. Mr. Nettleton is chairman of a committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce. The Brainerd City Council also appointed a committee to act in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce committee and we understand that those two committees have had several meetings.

Now the County Commissioners and the Brainerd Business Men's association have been invited to appoint committees to act with them. Accordingly President A. T. Fisher of the Brainerd Business Men's association has appointed W. E. Erickson, W. H. Cleary and A. K. Lukens as our representatives on said committee, Mr. Fisher selected you on account of your peculiar fitness for the position and trust that you will be able to serve, as their meetings will undoubtedly be held in the evening and unless you accept work under the sub-committee, your duties as our representative will not be arduous.

If there is any reason why you cannot serve on this committee, kindly let us know as we feel we should be represented by active members, as undoubtedly this move will mean a great deal to the citizens of Brainerd as well as to the farming community.

Yours truly,

Over the Top With the Italians
When the photographer got this picture of the Italians going "over the top" for the Austrians before they had to place his camera where he might have been shot. He escaped. In this section of the Italian front there is so much rock it is impossible to dig trenches in the ground. The trenches here were made of dried clay bricks piled on each other till they formed a redoubt sufficient to withstand anything but heavy artillery fire. The men here shown "going over the top" are charging in the face of Austrian bullets. Every one takes his life in his hand and he knows it.

The Sea Anemone.

The sea anemone resembles in shape a morning glory. Its mouth opens like the cup of that flower, and above it are seen a number of tentacles waving in the water. Its food consists of anything it can get, but generally it gets the minute insects that float in the sea. At any alarm it closes its cup and is then hardly distinguishable from the rock on which it is rooted. It has a set of sucker muscles that attach it so firmly to the rock that it will sometimes be torn to pieces rather than let go.

Food Administration Announces
Its Control Plan.

ESTABLISH BUYING AGENCIES

Licensing of Elevators and Mills, Fixing Fair Prices, Regulation of Middlemen and Grain Exchanges, With Elimination of Trading in Futures, Are Chief Features of System.

Washington, Aug. 12.—The food administration announced its plans for controlling wheat, flour and bread, revealing that the government is prepared to take over the whole 1917 wheat harvest if necessary to conserve the supply, obtain just prices for America's fighting forces and their allies and reduce costs to the American public.

Establishing of buying agencies at all the principal terminals, licensing of elevators and mills, fixing of a price to be considered fair, regulation of the middleman and of grain exchanges, with the elimination of trading in futures, are the chief features of the plan. The licensing will begin Sept. 1.

The minimum price of $2 for wheat, fixed by congress, does not become effective until next year, but the administration proposes to exercise a very thorough control over this year's crop through powers conferred under the food and export control bills.

FRANCE DETAILS OFFICERS

Trained Men Will Assist at American Army Camps.

Washington, Aug. 12.—The French war office has designated a sufficient number of officers who have had experience in front line fighting to supply at least one to each of the thirty-two cantonment camps in the United States. It was learned at the war department. The officers will be assigned to divisional camps by the war department.

In addition France already has furnished specialists in several branches of warfare, such as aviation and artillery, for the instruction of American officers, some of whom are attached temporarily to the war college in Washington, where at present a number of national guard officers are undergoing special instructions.

These officers, it is believed, will be attached to the staffs of the major generals, who will command the divisional camps, and instruct both the national guard and the national army in modern warfare.

PLANT ON SMALL ISLAND

Mexican Officials Believe It German Wireless Station.

Mexico City, Aug. 12.—What is believed to have been a German information forwarding station has been discovered by Mexican officers on Lobos island, a lighthouse station off the Mexican coast, northeast of Tuxpan.

The Mexican authorities believe the station might have been converted into a submarine or naval base had it not been located by them.

The government recently decided to place a wireless station on Lobos island and when Manuel Rodriguez Gutierrez, secretary of communications, went to Tampico on a trip of inspection, he sent Alberto Mendez, chief of the wireless department of communications, to the island. On his arrival at the island Mendez found a complete wireless plant in operation. It had been built by the lighthouse keeper. He was placed under arrest.

THE BEST THEATRE

THEIR SECOND HONEYMOON

By WARREN MILLER

"Well," said Frank Egerton, "I am here."
"So am I," replied the woman who, though she had been divorced from him, was still Mrs. Egerton.
"Where are the papers?"
"There," she pointed to some documents on a table.
"The property is worth $10,000 less than it was a year ago. Had you not refused to join me in the sale then we would each have been today $5,000 better off."
"Mother wouldn't let me."
"And if you hadn't been under mother's thumb you would have been better off in the matter of a husband," he replied, seating himself at the table, taking up a pen and beginning to put his signature to the documents.
"How about the quarrelsome husbands?"
He paid no attention to this, being engrossed in looking over the documents and signing them. He seemed to be in haste, glancing now and again at his watch. As soon as he had finished he rose from his chair, took up his hat and was about to leave when she said:
"You seem to be in haste."
"I am. I have but two hours to attend to a lot of business, pack my trunk and get to a train."
"Where are you going on a train?"
"To the seashore."
The seashore—what delightful words to one sweltering inland in this hot weather!
"The Nautilus is at Marblehead," he added. "I am to reach her there, and I'm going for a cruise."
"In what waters?"
"I notice no diminution in your curiosity. What difference does it make to you where I cruise?"
"Are you going among those islands on the coast of Maine where we?"
She stopped. Her eyes were a bit wet.
"Where we went on our wedding trip? No, I'm not going to make myself miserable by going there."
He made another effort to get away, but it failed.
"Who's going with you?"
"Jim Tucker and his wife, the Thrustons and Mary Blake."
"Who's Mary Blake?"
"I can't stand here answering questions in which you can have no possible interest and catch my train."
"Are you going to marry Mary Blake?"
"What's that to you?"
"Is she pretty?"
"You bet!"
"I have a mind to go with you."
"You!"
"Why not?"
"Why, we're divorced. We're not—"

"What difference does that make? I've heard of divorced persons being excellent friends."
"But—"
"But what?"
"How would you get on with"—
"Mary Blake? First rate. I wouldn't deign to notice her."
"She will have stateroom A."
"No, she won't."
"Come, Edith. This is arrant nonsense. Three years ago you divorced me because I objected to your mother running our affairs. Now you propose to go on a yachting tour with me, one of my guests being a girl who, I think, would not refuse an offer from me. You also intend to occupy the best room on the Nautilus, that would naturally be given to her. Could there be anything more absurd?"
She had no sense of humor; she simply sulked. He looked at his watch for the fourth time in five minutes.
"I suppose you have heard of poor dear mother's death," she said at last.
"I have. Please accept my sympathies."
There was another silence, during which he showed signs of impatience to get away.
"What time does your train leave?" she asked.
"At 3:30."
"I think you will need to take a later one."
"What! Have my guests on hand and I absent?"
"You might telephone them that you have been delayed."
"What reason can I give for the delay?"
"Why, you might say that you have invited me to be of the party and I will need time for preparation."
"But I have not invited you."
At this stage of the argument tears came to bring about a crisis. He went to her and put his arms about her.
"Edith, have you come to see your error?"
There was no reply to this, only tears.
"Very well, get ready to go with me. We will take a later train."
"But—"
"But what?"
"We must be married."
"I will arrange for that."
When they arrived at the yacht, now man and wife, they found no one but the crew.
"Where are your guests?" she asked.
"I telephoned them that you were to be of the party. Doubtless they preferred not to stand in the way of our second honeymoon."
This second honeymoon may not have had the zest of the first, but it was a great relief to both. Providence had removed the cause of their separation, and there was now nothing to interfere with their happiness.

WOMEN WORK FOR HOME AND COUNTRY

Mrs. Alice Ames Winter, Chairman

Committee of the

COUNCIL OF NATIONAL DEFENSE

In Letter to Mrs. W. H. Gemmell of Brainerd the State Chairman
Reports Progress

In a letter to Chairman Mrs. W. H. Gemmell, State Chairman Mrs. Alice Ames Winter, of the Woman's Committee, Minnesota Division, Council of National Defense, writes as follows:

Aug. 4, 1917.

My dear Madam Chairman:

I wish you could all sit at my desk and read the fine reports that are coming in from our State-wide officers. I should like to send them all to all of you.

Mrs. Simpson in the 5th district has conducted a wonderful campaign for the Hoover Pledge, with visitors at practically every home, and with every kind of experience that a big city can offer. For a small town, Renville, with 1200 inhabitants, has sent in 143 pledges already. Thief River Fall had a fine patriotic procession with floats illustrating all our Committee activities, and has started a Young Women's Auxiliary of 200 members. Kandiyohi's Men's Committee contributed $150.00 to its Women's committee, and they are planning a Garden Party with patriotic speeches and out-of-door sports, that shall help raise money. Kandiyohi has three Young Women's Auxiliaries. From everywhere there come reports of the Hoover campaign of classes in food preservation, of neighborhood groups of women helping the farmer's wives etc. Forty counties are to have Farm School Extension teachers. Many chairmen are publishing recipes in their local papers. Many are getting Boy Scouts to help them in their campaigns and in their patriotic meetings.

Some of the chairmen ask for suggestions about the importance of our work. Tell people:

1. The United States Government considers it so important that they have gone to great trouble to organize the National Council of Defense.
2. The United States cannot win this war alone. Even now England and France are bearing the brunt of it, and, if it were not for this, as a German officer recently said, Germany "would destroy a strip 500 miles wide along our sea-coast and bleed the United States of billions of dollars of indemnity." But, in order that our allies and we together shall win the war, WE MUST SEE THAT THERE IS ENOUGH FOOD FOR ALL. We control the food supply. The conservation of food is an absolute necessity if we are going to win the war.
3. Wars always produce destruction of social order and of the lives of civilians as well as fighters. You can destroy property and you can destroy laws and these things can be restored, but when you destroy life or health you injure the race permanently. The protection of women in industry and child welfare which is put up to us is vital to the well-being of our country. It also must be done.
4. The Americanization and Patriotic work, in a country with millions of foreign-born, you will realize also is imperative if we are to win the war and come out a nation.

With all good wishes for your work
ALICE AMES WINTER,
Chairman.

So many women suffer from similar afflictions that this testimonial from Mrs. Laura Beall, Plattsburg, Miss., will be read with interest: "I got in bad health. My left side hurt all the time. ON CANNING VEGETABLES

(From Member Food Conservation Committee)

If you use Economy jars try removing the covers every day for at least 10 days. If cover comes off you may be able to save contents of jar by re-boiling or better, use it on table immediately and refill jar.

If you use "glass top" jars, remove the spring entirely and try lifting off top.

The only test I know that might be used on Mason jars is to tap the covers lightly with silver spoon—ringing sound, O. K. contents. Dull sound, rather sure sign of fermentation.

If you find a jar or two giving trouble examine jar for defects and also prolong the boiling period an extra hour for all future lots for this year.

381-J Northwestern telephone will cheerfully answer all questions, concerning this vegetable canning, within her knowledge.

Gather young, tender vegetables for canning and have them in the final bath within 5 hours from gathering.

Sandy roads, corduroy stretches, muddy patches had no terrors for Miss Hazel Hurd, St. Paul girl driving an eight cylinder Cadillac. With a party of relatives she drove from St. Paul to Brainerd in five hours and a half. In the car were Mrs. W. W. Hurd, Mrs. N. Rishworth, of St. Paul, sisters of the Misses Millie and Lottie Gardner whom they are visiting here, and Miss Hazel Hurd, niece of the Misses Gardner.

At Brainerd Mrs. W. F. Gardner of St. Paul, a sister-in-law, joined them and in company with the Misses Gardner a trip was made to Walker, Bemidji and Itasca State park, out on the state highway and back by way of the Jefferson highway.

W. H. CONGDON VISITING HERE

Married Miss Josie Shontell, Daughter of Wm. Shontell of City, Years Ago in Brainerd

Will H. Congdon of Gresham, Ore., is visiting his nephew, H. W. Congdon in Brainerd and his brother, Frank Congdon of Oak Lawn township. He was a fireman and engineer in Brainerd thirty years ago and married here Miss Josie Shontell, daughter of William Shontell, then chief of police of Brainerd.

Mr. Congdon traveled from Gresham to New York city and also visited at Addison, N. Y., his old home.

A Middlesex, Vermont paper gave a record of the Shontells in the Civil war. Mrs. Esther Shontell sent seven sons into the army. William measured 6 feet 8 inches in height; Benjamin 6 feet 4 inches; Frederick 6 feet 3 inches; Leander 5 feet 9 inches; Lewis 6 feet 1 inch; Joseph 6 feet 7 inches; Augustus 6 feet. Two of the brothers were killed in action and the mother draws a pension for one of them. Another left a widow and two are pensioned on account of wounds.

William Shontell was the father of Mrs. W. H. Congdon and his grandson Carl Langdon did not wait to be drafted for he had too much of the Vermont fighting blood in him.

MAKE RED CROSS SUPPLIES

Women Employees of Treasury Department Doing Good Work.

Washington, Aug. 13.—Headed by Mrs. William G. McAdoo, wife of the secretary of the treasury, about 600 women employees of the treasury department have organized for making Red Cross supplies. They are now producing large quantities of bedding, pajamas, knit goods and other requirements of the soldiers and sailors of the United States.

Most of the work is done by the women in their spare time at home. Practically all of them are giving several nights every week to the making of Red Cross supplies.

The unit has raised $26,000 through contributions from members and others interested in its activities, for the purchase of raw materials, from which the various articles are made.

During the past two months the women of this unit have made and turned over for its use in the army and navy 2,807 pillow cases, 2,079 sheets, 135 pajamas, 108 mufflers, 85 wash cloths, 84 hospital shirts, 56 pairs of wristlets, 42 jackets, 12 helmets and 6 tray cloths.

Mrs. McAdoo, Mrs. Newton, wife of the assistant secretary, and the wives of other officials of the treasury department are all actively engaged in this work and assist personally in making supplies and instructing beginners.

THE TORPEDO SPEAKS.

Tells Its Own Story of Its Doings in War and Peace.

Well, well, well! I am surprised! With all the notoriety that I have gained and the destruction that I have caused that nobody would tell you what I am made of and what I am capable of doing!

I am twenty-one feet in length and twenty-one inches in diameter, and ordinarily I am assembled in three parts known as the tail and afterbody, the flask and the head. My tail contains the machinery which turns the propellers that force me through the water; the flask carries my fuel in the form of compressed air that sends me on my mission of destruction—and when I start, woe unto them who may be in my path, for I am the most dreaded weapon that ever sailed the seven seas. I cost $9,000 and can run for 10,000 yards before my energy is used up, traveling that distance at the rate of about fifty feet per second. I am a monster made of forged nickel steel and weigh 2,000 pounds and have turbine engines, which are capable of making 1,700 revolutions per minute. In my head I carry a high explosive called gunecotton, which explodes upon contact.

In times of peace, when I am practiced with, the gunecotton is taken out of my head and water is substituted to compensate for its weight. When I have been fired in practice and have made my run and expended all my energy I have lost sufficient weight to float to the surface until I am picked up, recharged and refilled.—A. Freed, Gunner's Mate, U. S. N., in Washington Star.

THEY FEAST ON SNAKES.

A Queer People With Queer Tastes Are the Philippine Pygmies.

High up on the slopes of Mount Mariveles, in the Philippine Islands, dwell the last remnants of an ancient and most mysterious race, the Negritos, or "little negroes." Scientists differ hopelessly as to their origin and history, but the traveler who is fortunate enough to penetrate into their carefully hidden villages finds the quaint little people extremely interesting.

Though disinclined to work, the Negrito is indefatigable in the chase. He will hunt all day without eating anything but the mango or banana that he seizes as he rushes by. If dogs are scarce for any reason women are pressed into service, and these go loping through the brush, yelping in imitation of the canines.

Sometimes a beater will emerge from the brush carrying a pig he has encountered and killed or, more important still, bringing news of the sighting of a python. In this case the whole hunt is called in and its energies directed to the capture of the big snake, which when killed is carried in triumph procession to the village, where it furnishes a feast.—World Wide Magazine.

Home-Reading Course For Our Citizen-Soldiers

(Issued by the War Department and all rights to reprint reserved)

This course of thirty daily lessons is offered to the men selected for service in the National Army as a practical help in getting started in the right way. It is informal in tone and does not attempt to give binding rules and directions. These are contained in the various manuals and regulations of the United States Army, to which this Course is merely introductory.

LESSON I.

YOUR POST OF HONOR

You are called to serve as a soldier in the National Army, because that is one of your obligations as a citizen of the United States. The citizens of a republic must always be ready in the hour of need to leave their own homes and take up arms in defense of their rights and principles. Otherwise the Republic could not long continue to exist. The men who now enter military service deserve the gratitude and respect of their fellow citizens.

You are doubtless making a heavy sacrifice in order to perform this duty to your country. Hundreds of thousands of other young men and their families are face to face with similar sacrifices. All our citizens will sooner or later be called upon, each to bear his or her share of the burden. Men and women, rich and poor, all alike must do whatever is necessary. For no personal interests or feelings can be permitted to stand in the way at a time when the safety and honor of the country are at stake.

As a citizen soldier you are chosen for a post of special distinction. America is justly proud of the soldiers of the past who have won for us the rights today denied and put in serious danger by the high-handed attacks of the German Government. America will be no less proud of you, as you fight to uphold those rights.

Your personal responsibility is great. As warfare is today conducted, the individual soldier counts for more than ever before. Your own skill and bravery, no matter how humble your rank, may easily be important factors in deciding whether an engagement is to be won or lost. You can not depend upon anyone else to carry this personal responsibility for you; you must depend upon yourself.

Some American Soldiers

Americans are well-fitted to meet this test. During the Civil War, at the battle of Antietam, the 7th Maine Infantry lay, hugging the ground, under a furious storm of shot and shell. Private Knox, who was a wonderful shot, asked leave to move nearer the enemy. For an hour afterwards his companions heard his rifle crack every few minutes. His commanding officer finally, from curiosity, "crept forward to see what he was doing, and found that he had driven every man away from one section of a confederate battery, tumbling over gunner after gunner as they came forward to fire. * * * At the end of an hour or so, a piece of shell took off the breech of his pet rifle, and he returned disconsolate; but after a few minutes he gathered three rifles that were left by wounded men and went back again."

In the Confederate armies individual soldiers were no less skilful, cool and brave. On both sides they were Americans.

Here are a few cases quoted from official records. You must read between the lines to get the full benefit of the stories they tell of resourcefulness and courage.

On June 9, 1862, Private John Gray 5th Ohio Infantry, "mounted on an artillery horse of the enemy and captured a brass 6-pound piece, in the face of the enemy's fire, and brought it to the rear."

On October 12, 1863, Private Michael Dougherty, 13th Pennsylvania Cavalry, "at the head of a detachment of his company, dashed across an open field, exposed to a deadly fire from the enemy, and succeeded in dislodging them from an unoccupied house, which he and his comrades defended for several hours against repeated attacks, thus preventing the enemy from flanking the position of the Union forces."

From May 8 to 11, 1864, Private John B. Lynch, 3d Indiana Cavalry, "carried important dispatches from the President to General Grant, passing through the enemy's country, escaping capture, delivered his messages and returned to Washington with replies thereto."

On April 27, 1899, Private Edward White, 20th Kansas Infantry, during a fight with insurgents in the Philippine Islands, "swam the Rio Grande de Pampanga in face of the enemy's fire and fastened a rope to the unoccupied trenches, thereby enabling the crossing of the river and the driving of the enemy from his fortified position."

On May 6, 1900, Private William P. Maclay, 43rd U. S. Volunteer Infantry, "charged an occupied bastion, saving the life of an officer in a hand-to-hand combat and destroying the enemy."

In all these cases medals of honor were granted. The incidents, however, are typical of the army. Thousands of similar stories might be told. They represent the spirit that will inspire the National Army when the time comes to show the stuff of which it is made.

Tales of heroic courage can be found in the annals of all armies and of all nations. But the American Army has its own special tradition, which these incidents illustrate. It is the tradition of intelligence, self-reliance, and individual daring on the part of men serving in the ranks.

The Individual Soldier Counts

Other things being equal, an army made up of self-reliant, thinking men has a great advantage over a merely machine-like army, and this is especially true in present-day warfare. Maj. Gen. Hugh L. Scott, Chief of Staff, U. S. A., remarks on this point:

"The conditions under which modern wars are fought are ever making increasing demands on the individual soldier. * * * The individual soldier must know how to interpret accurately orders and signals, for the enemy's fire may often so isolate him from his leader and comrades, perhaps only a step away, that he may be thrown on his own initiative in making his actions conform to those of the whole line; he may have to use his own judgment in opening fire, in advancing, in intrenching."

Fair Play

A second tradition of the American Army, which need only be mentioned, is that of fighting fairly and treating even the enemy with as much humanity as his own conduct will permit. As for slaughtering or enslaving the civilian population of captured territory, attacking prisoners or assaulting women, American soldiers would as little commit such crimes in time of war as in time of peace. In this respect most of the civilized nations of the world think alike.

Fighting for Rights and Principles

There is a third splendid tradition of the American Army which you will help to carry forward. It has fought always and everywhere in defense of principles and rights—never merely for territory and for power. Even the Civil War resulted from the clash of opposing principles—the principle of an indivisible Union upheld by the North, and that of freedom to withdraw from the Union upheld by the South.

To protect the rights of citizens, the American people have several times opposed tyrannical governments—the English government in 1776 and 1812, the French government for a short period in 1798, the Mexican government in 1848, the Spanish government in 1898. The final effect in each case has been to advance the cause of liberty and democracy throughout the world, even in the countries against which we fought. Our weapons have not willingly been turned against any people, but only against the rulers who misgoverned and misled them. In fighting for our own rights, the American Army has fought also, in President Wilson's phrase, for the "rights of mankind."

For a like high purpose, the American people have entered into the present war against the German government—a government which in our belief misrepresents and misleads the German people. Only by so doing can we save America and the world "safe for democracy." But one ending can be thought of—an ending that will guarantee the continuance of all those principles and rights which the American Army has in the past so nobly fought to establish.

Never lose sight, even for an instant, of the fact that all your training, your efforts, and your sacrifices have this one great object in view, the attainment of which is worth anything it may cost.

TAXATION TALK
DUE IN SENATE

Unlimited Debate on Revenue Bill to Be Interesting.

CHANGES BY COMMITTEE

After Hearing Everybody Interested in the Measure and Arriving at No Final Decision, Members Decided to Let the Entire Senate Wrestle With the Difficult Problems.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Aug. 13.—[Special.]—The talk about taxation is about the only thing we will hear in the senate for the next two or three weeks. After being held in committee for nearly three months the revenue bill, with its numerous changes, is now in the forum of unlimited debate.

After hearing nearly everybody interested on one side or the other of this revenue question the members of the committee made up their minds that the only thing to do was to bring out the bill with its enormous tax burden and see what the senate could do with it. The senators who have been handling the war revenue measure have come to the conclusion that the people must pay for this war, and this bill is an indication of what the war actually means in dollars and cents. And, even so, it provides in taxation only two billions of the seventeen billions that are to be expended the first year.

Destroying State Lines.

It has been frequently asserted that state lines are being eliminated. At no time, however, has the slogan of state rights been used more vociferously than in regard to the proposed amendment to the constitution providing for prohibition. "If that amendment is adopted," it has often been said, "it will go a long way toward wiping out state lines." Perhaps this is true, but in the very nature of things it has been necessary for the federal government to go further and further in the direction of centralizing power heretofore exercised by the states.

A few years ago when the woman suffrage amendment was under consideration one of the most learned constitutional lawyers of the senate, although hailing from a woman's suffrage state and most earnestly advocating woman suffrage, refused to vote for the amendment because it tended to wipe out state lines in matters pertaining to elections. This same senator supported the prohibition amendment, although it goes further in the direction of federal control than the other.

"Shreds" of the Constitution.

A great many senators think there is nothing left but shreds of the constitution. Many things have been done to take away the powers of the states, such as incorporating the national guard into a federal force. In nearly all of the legislation that has been passed for the war there is something that has torn a hole or made a dent in the constitution. If prohibition finally passes and is followed by a woman suffrage amendment, then we will hear more about "tearing the constitution to shreds."

Pork Is Food.

There was a large attendance in the house of representatives the day the two food control bills came up for votes on the reports of the conference committee. Some surprise was expressed to find that the river and harbor bill conference report was put ahead of the two important food bills. "That's all right," remarked one of the humorists of the house. "It has been charged over and over again that the river and harbor bill is packed full of 'pork.' Now, if that is true this river and harbor bill ought to go ahead. For isn't pork food?"

And those who listened seemed to think that this might make a valid explanation.

Expediency in Legislation.

The unusual amendment which was attached to the joint resolution by the senate providing that national prohibition should be effectively nullified in case the proposed amendment were ratified within six years was adopted as a matter of expediency. The prohibitionists had some doubt whether there was a two-thirds majority for the amendment, but they were sure of securing the two-thirds in case the Harding six year amendment were made a part of the resolution.

All contested legislation is a compromise, and the constitution itself is full of compromises, as every constitution lawyer relates when discussing the subject at great length. Therefore there is no reason why this prohibition amendment should not be a compromise.

The First For 1920.

The first boomlet for president in 1920 came, as might be expected, from Ohio. E. W. Moore, member of the Democratic national committee for that state, while in Washington a short time ago proposed Governor James M. Cox of Ohio for president in 1920. As Ohio, for so many years a rock ribbed Republican state, elected the Democratic candidate last year, there is no reason why she should not present a candidate in the next Democratic national convention—that is, unless the Democratic party by that time with practical unanimity decides upon a third term for New Jersey's favorite son.

KAISER IS INDICTED BY SOUTHERN JURY.

Meridian, Miss., Aug. 13.—Upon the sworn testimony of Representative W. W. Venable of the Fifth congressional district the Lauderdale county grand jury has returned an indictment against William, emperor of Germany, charging robbery, arson, murder, plotting, bribery and conspiracy, all against the peace and dignity of the state of Mississippi.

TREATMENT OF PRISONERS

Russians Call German System "Refined Barbarity."

Petrograd, Aug. 13.—The central committee which is dealing with the affairs of war prisoners issued a statement "in high protest against the refined barbarity which Germany is displaying" toward Russian prisoners.

The statement says that Germany "is not fulfilling her promise regarding the internment in neutral countries of sick prisoners, that she is illegally retaining military prisoners unfit for service and that she is placing restrictions on the men communicating with their homes and intercepting letters asking assistance from the Red Cross."

It also says that the rations in the prisons have been reduced to unheard of proportions and that they include adulterated products injurious to the men. In addition prisoners are compelled to undertake superhuman labor.

A Freak of Death Valley.

Saratoga springs is one of the freaks of Death valley and has probably caused more profanity than anything else in the region. The waters are as clear as crystal, and they bubble up from a deep, sand basin like a well spring of joy. But they are strongly impregnated with sulphur and other minerals, are tepid in temperature and act instantly like an emetic upon any one who drinks them.—Exchange.

A Disadvantage.

"Do you think 'The Star Spangled Banner' is a good song?" "I don't see why it isn't a perfectly good old anthem. You don't always get a favorable impression of it owing to the fact that anybody feels free to tackle it, regardless of whether he can sing or not."—Washington Star.

The Difference.

"Apropos of this aviation business, you know?" "Well, what of it?" "Formerly the public here used to take fliers in stock; now they are taking stock in fliers."—Baltimore American.

Its Kind.

"I hear Bangs is getting on so well that he gave his wife a machine." "He's getting on so well because he gave her the machine. It is a washing machine."—Baltimore American.

Do Something Better Than the Other Fellow---

and ADVERTISE

Advertising cannot accomplish the impossible any more than barren ground can yield rich crop.

But how advertising does make things hum when the product and proposition are right, the men and methods above board, when there's an honest purpose and earnest effort from bundle boy to general manager to serve efficiency, to deal honestly, to sell good goods, to price fairly.

Oil up the machinery of your business, imbue your organization with the spirit of true service, make your business worthy of the good will, the confidence, the patronage of the people.

In this fertile field then sow the seed of advertising and it will bring forth abundant crops in increased business and augmented prestige.

Your store news in the Dispatch will be read in practically every home in Brainerd and vicinity every evening.

An Interesting Test of Wits.

A game that affords fun and an interesting test of wits is "your native town." At a party it will slide over any dull moments that threaten. Provide the players with paper and pencils and ask them all to write the places of their birth. Then give them a limited time in which to make a sentence consisting of words that begin with the letters in the name of the town and follow the same order.

For example, if the city is Baltimore, then the sentence might be, "Behold, a large town in Maryland, old, rich, enterprising." The more aptly descriptive of the town the better is the sentence. At the end of a specified time have the players read their sentences, and, if you wish, award a prize to the best one.—Youth's Companion.

Igorrote Dog Eaters.

During our trip through the Philippines we visited the dog market, where the Igorrotes bought and sold half starved canines with visions of a great feast off the protruding ribs. The Igorrotes are about as much like the cultured Filipinos as they are like the cultured Americans or cultured Japanese. But the fact that the Igorrotes eat dogs has done as much to prejudice us against the Filipinos as has the story that the Chinese eat rats to turn us against the well bred Chinese, who not only do not eat rats, but even have a distaste for caviar and humberger.—Maynard Owen Williams in Christian Herald.

Great men are they who see that spiritual is stronger than any material force; that thoughts rule the world.—Emerson.

Ben Kaiser, age 55, Pillager man who was injured in an accident at the Pillager dam and had his head hurt, was being treated at St. Joseph's hospital and Sunday evening between 8:30 and 9 o'clock eluded the nurses and escaped.

He is of a taciturn disposition. Any one seeing him should promptly notify city or county authorities, the St. Joseph's hospital and the patient will be quickly taken back to the hospital.

WHO IS WHO, AND WHY

(Little Falls Transcript)
An erroneous report has gained circulation in the city that a local young lady was arrested at Brainerd for carrying liquor into Indian territory. It is understood that some lady was arrested in Brainerd a short time ago but this woman did not live in Little Falls and the connecting up of the local lady's name with the affair is very unjust and entirely uncalled for.

GARDEN PLANTING MOVEMENT

Commission Furnishes Free Manuals on Home Canning and Drying of Vegetables

The National Emergency Food Garden Commission of Washington, D. C., has sent this letter of appreciation to Mayor R. A. Beise:—
My Dear Mayor:

This commission wishes to thank you for your co-operation in furthering the food garden planting movement and for the attention you gave to its recent request to issue a proclamation to your people telling them of the importance of practicing food conservation by the canning and drying of vegetables and fruits which they have raised or can purchase, and by practicing food thrift.

The importance of this food conservation effort by all the people steadily grows and we now write to ask that you give your further cooperation by informing the people of your city through your newspapers if you will, that you have been notified by the commission that it will gladly send, free of charge, to any citizen, a manual on home canning and a manual on home drying of vegetables and fruits, on receipt of a two cent stamp for each. These manuals are compiled by leading experts and provide all the necessary simple and practical advice needed by the average housekeeper.

If there are worthy organizations in your town to which these manuals would be of service we shall also be glad to send them a number.

Very sincere yours,
P. S. RIDSDALL, Secretary.

FIRE SUNDAY NIGHT

Second Floor of F. H. McCaffrey's Shop, 307 South Sixth Street Was Blazing

The fire department quickly extinguished a blaze Sunday night at 10:30 o'clock on the second floor of F. H. McCaffrey's paint shop, 307 South Sixth street, smoke pouring from the second floor, where spontaneous combustion is believed to have set fire to stuff stored in rooms. Damage was nominal.

In this regard mention should be made of the interference with fire truck movement by automobiles. Many blocked Sixth and Laurel streets and Driver Bukey had to slow down with the fire truck in order to pick his way to the fire.

Think of a fire truck being obliged to slow down for Brainerd cars in order to make a fire! Down in the cities there would have been some flying cars and a traffic cop on hand to nab delinquents.

CHAMBER JOINS ROAD BOOSTING

Chamber of Commerce and Advisory Board Meetings Postponed Account Carnival Week

CHAMBER TO MEET AUGUST 22

Change will Insure a Better Attendance at the Meetings and Not Interfere with Pay Day

The meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and the advisory board of the same, scheduled for Tuesday evening of this week, have been postponed in order not to interfere with carnival week and to assist the good work of the Northeast Brainerd Improvement League, under the auspices of which the carnival comes to Brainerd.

The regular meeting of the Chamber will be held next week Wednesday and the advisory board will meet at the call of the president, probably next Monday or Tuesday evening. It is believed that this change in dates will work for the interests of all concerned and that it will insure a better attendance at the meetings, while at the same time no interfere with business men at the busy time of pay day, the 15th; and the pleasures of the gala week opening tonight.

ADVERTISED THE CARNIVAL

Brainerd City Band, Elks Trio, Fatty Wood and Other Noted Citizens at Little Falls

MOTORED DOWN ON SATURDAY

Little Falls Flocked to Center of Town to Hear Concert and Carnival Announcements

The Brainerd City band traveling in eight cars, the Elks trio, S. F. Alderman, Al Mraz and Rollie Jenkins, and the ukelele player and tenor warbler Fatty Wood visited Little Falls in company with 35 cars of Brainerd people and advertised the coming carnival in Brainerd under Northeast Brainerd Improvement League auspices, the proceeds of the week's entertainment to be used for improvement of streets leading to Lum park.

Little Falls turned out en masse and crowded to the center of the city where the concert was held. Between numbers Al Fisher, the carnival advance man in stentorian tones roared out the attractions listed for Brainerd and invited Little Falls and Morrison county to come to the show.

On the way down Tibbie Anderson lost a wheel and walked four miles to make the band and get his horn into action.

A. J. Loom had two blowouts and he and James MacPherson walked two miles.

On the way home Bill Dougherty's Ford upset in the sand and spilled six passengers who crawled out from under.

The band gave its services, the Elks trio and Fatty Wood sang and all citizens went down determined to boost and get Little Falls and Morrison county to the carnival.

Boost this week and push the cause of good roads and streets.

CELEBRATION NIPPED IN BUD

INDIAN AGENTS INTERFERED

When Circumstances Became Known in Brainerd, Bondsman Quickly Aided Poor Kangas

Buying four quarts of whiskey and five quarts of brandy at Little Falls as material for one last good celebration before going to the front, William Kangas of Sebeka, tall, strapping fellow who scored high in the physical examination and was promptly accepted as a soldier, ran afoul of the Indian agents at Brainerd and was arrested for carrying contraband liquor into Indian territory.

When the circumstances became known in the city, bondsman quickly aided Kangas and after examination before U. S. Commissioner W. A. Fleming he was released on bond.

Kangas will go to the front and when his case is called in federal court in Duluth he may be fighting in the front trenches in France.

LLOYD GEORGE FLAYS ARTHUR HENDERSON

London, Aug. 13.—The course of Arthur Henderson in advising the conference of the Labor party to send a representation to the Stockholm conference has been followed quickly by the tender of his resignation as a member of the war cabinet, which constitutes the inner council of the government, and the prompt acceptance of the resignation by the premier.

Premier Lloyd George wrote Mr. Henderson a scathing letter of acceptance in which he virtually accused Mr. Henderson of bad faith and duplicity in his dealings both with his cabinet colleagues and with the Laborites and promptly gave the letter to the newspapers.

The letter of the premier makes it plain that the cabinet is opposed to the Stockholm meeting and also that the present Russian provisional government is lukewarm, if not opposed altogether. The gist of Premier Lloyd George's letter is that Mr. Henderson gave the cabinet the impression that he agreed with them.

They expected him to advise the Labor party against the conference and were greatly surprised by his change of front.

GOVERNMENT HAS CONTROL

Reduction in Malt and Barley to Cut French Beer Price.

Paris, Aug. 13.—The minister of food supplies presided at a meeting of the beer making and beer selling industries, at which an agreement was reached concerning the barley trade in order to stop speculation and bring back malt beer to a reasonable price. As a result of the agreement barley henceforth may only be bought by a ministerial committee, which will apportion it according to the needs of the various districts.

The price of barley has been fixed at 43 francs ($8.60) a hundred weight, and the price of malt will not exceed 88 francs ($17) a hundred weight. The price of malt has been 160 francs ($32). The lowering of the price on malt will result in reducing the price of beer proportionately.

12,000 MINERS ON STRIKE

Conference Will Try to Settle Dispute in Illinois.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—With Chief Justice O. N. Carter prepared to assume his duties as director of coal for Illinois, to which he was appointed Friday by Governor F. O. Lowden, the labor situation in the state is now said to loom large as a barrier to an immediate adjustment of fuel prices.

Striking miners in various parts of the state have caused a situation so acute that a meeting of representatives of three mine operators' associations and the executive board of the miners' union has been called to attempt to effect a settlement. According to coal mine operators at least 12,000 miners are now out on strike.

BIG SHOW HERE READY FOR FUN

The Great Clifton-Kelley Carnival Company Have Their Tents All Pitched to START THE WEEK OF GAYETY

Northeast Brainerd Improvement League, Under Whose Auspices they Appear, Endorse Shows

As per schedule the great Clifton-Kelley shows arrived yesterday over the Northern Pacific railway in their special train of eighteen cars from Staples where they exhibited last week, and from reports from that place they gave entire satisfaction.

The company numbers about 200 people with twelve paid attractions, Ferris wheel, merry go round, and a number of concessions. No immoral shows or gambling devices of any kind are carried or tolerated and it is said that the company measures up to the pure food law in the amusement line in every respect.

The Wilsons trained wild animal circus is the big feature and it is really an exhibition in itself featuring three of the most noted animal trainers in wild animal subjection headed by Tom Wilmouth and his group of forest bred lions including Duke the man killer. This lion has an international reputation having three fatalities to his credit. This act is guaranteed to cure one of that tired feeling and is exciting in the extreme as it is a fight for supremacy at every performance.

Miss Lillian Aurora and her equestrian lion, and Marguerite and her leopards, pumas and jaguars go to make up one of the best shows of the kind that has ever visited the city.

The Yankee Doodle Girls and Dixie Minstrels are said to be out of the ordinary for carnival companies to have.

The tents are all pitched at the corner of Laurel and Fifth streets and present a regular Cooney Island appearance.

The Northeast Brainerd Improvement League under whose auspices the attractions are given give every assurance that the exhibitions are of the highest class and they look forward to a big week's enjoyment.

GREAT SHIPPING PROGRAM

Board Will Ask Congress for Billion Dollars More.

Washington, Aug. 13.—After approving contracts for more than 125 vessels to cost upwards of $100,000,000—its biggest single day's work—the government shipping board decided to ask congress for an additional appropriation of nearly $1,000,000,000.

It was announced that of the approved contracts Chairman E. F. Hurley signed for fifty vessels, aggregating 200,000 tons, to cost $25,000,000. The other contracts will be signed soon.

The shipping program will be more tremendous than ever dreamed of. Instead of 3,000,000 the first year double this tonnage will be attempted.

M'GRAW PASSED UP EDDIE ROUSCH

Now One of the Fastest Men In National League.

HITTING AT A SAVAGE CLIP

Once Equaled Record For Getting to First Base After Laying Down Bunt. Often Gets Two Bases on Hits Which Ordinarily Look Like Singles.

John McGraw is conceded to be one of the smartest managers in baseball, and there is no doubt about his ability, but even Jawn boots one now and then.

Evidence tending to show that McGraw kicked one when he permitted Eddie Rousch to get away from the Giants in the deal which sent Matty to Cincinnati may be found in the batting and fielding averages of the National league. And when the base running returns are printed there is no doubt that this lanky young speed boy from Oakland City, Ind., will be numbered among the base runners who pile up the greatest number of thefts in a season.

Rousch became the property of the Giants through sale when the Federal league tossed the sponge into the ring and threw up its fins. He stuck with McGraw's team until the middle of July and was traded to the Cincinnati club with McKechnie and Mathewson for Buck Herzog.

McGraw couldn't see Rousch as compared to Davy Robertson, and Eddie was sent on his way. But today Rousch compares favorably with Davy as an all around ball player, and unless injuries keep him out of the game this season there is little doubt that he will top Robertson's best efforts in all around playing.

Rousch, though it is not generally known, is one of the speediest players in the two major leagues today. He is a Mercury in the outfield, and on the bases he runs like a deer. In a field meet during the life of the Federal league Rousch equaled the record for getting to first base after laying down a bunt. The record was made in 1908 by Shaw in St. Louis, and the time was three and one-fifth seconds. Rousch was clocked in the same time.

As a hitter Rousch has natural ability. He does not hit as hard as his former teammate, Benny Kauff, but he has a habit of banging the ball on a line past the infielders at a rate of about sixteen miles a minute, and he often gets two bases on hits on which the ordinary player would get no farther than first base.

Rousch's experience in baseball as a professional began in 1912 at Evansville, and he played with that club nearly two seasons. He was sold to the White Sox in July, 1913, for a price reported to have been $3,000 and later released to the Lincoln club of the Western league. In 1914 he refused to report to Lincoln, jumping to the Indianapolis Federals under Whooa Bill Phillips, where he banged the pill for an average of .333 in seventy-four games. With the Newark Feds Rousch hit .298 in 1915, and in 1916 his hitting fell off to .267 in 108 games with New York and Cincinnati. But Rousch is just coming into his prime as a player, and he is only twenty-four years old. So it looks as though McGraw overlooked a bet when he traded him.

SOCCER PROFITS LARGE

War Charities Benefit From Games In Scottish League.

The first Scottish league soccer clubs to issue reports on last season's working show surprising results. Glasgow's Celtic, who won the championship of the Scottish league for the fourth year in succession and also captured the Glasgow charity cup, made a profit of $9,510, while the Rangers finished up the season with a balance in hand of $12,250. Third Lanark announced a profit of $1,169 and enjoyed the most successful season in the history of the club.

The Glasgow charity cup games, decided last month, produced $4,500 for war charities, and since this competition was started charities have benefited to the extent of $209,375. The many games played last month by the leading Glasgow clubs for the benefit of the various war funds resulted in $25,000 being added.

Great Young Swimmer.

Followers of swimming are watching the progress of George Shroth of Sacramento with considerable interest, many believing that he will sooner or later develop into one of the aquatic stars of the country. Shroth, who is only seventeen years old, weighs 209 pounds and stands six feet three and one-half inches. He only lately has begun to learn the fine points of the crawl and even as a comparative novice at the stroke has managed to finish second to Norman Ross, the Olympic club celebrity, in a number of recent sprint events.

Ross Breaks Mile Record.

Winner in each of the seven events entered, Norman Ross of San Francisco gave an exhibition of swimming that A. A. U. officials declared was wonderful. He began by covering the mile in 24 minutes, 10 seconds, lowering the national record by 49 1-5 seconds. He was credited with having beaten eleven other A. A. U. records of intermediate distances.

Meets All Comers at Wrestling or Boxing

OLLIE OLSON

Ollie Olson, the 133 pound boxer and wrestler who is one of the best in his line before the sporting public today is in the city being the feature with Athletic Stadium with the Great Clifton-Kelley shows which are here all week.

Olson has been dubbed the stumbling block to the near champs and has a record that would be hard to duplicate. Olson is willing to meet all comers either at wrestling or boxing during the week and like the great Fitzsimmons says "the taller they are the harder they fall" and he must begin nursing it all over again.

As matters stand now, Joe Wood is in exactly the same position he was last March when the Indians started training in New Orleans. He must nurse his arm along carefully, and he will be lucky if he goes into the box for the tribe before the first week in August.

Milwaukee Has Sprinting Marvel.

Athletes are now helping to make Milwaukee famous. The home of Olympic winners is developing a new phenom in the athletic world. He is a schoolboy sprinter, who promises to become as fast as Howard Drew in his prime. The youngster's name is Spetz. In a recent high school competition in Milwaukee he sprinted the 220 yard dash in 22 1-5 seconds and the 440 yard event in 49 4-5 seconds, both of which are new state interscholastic records and remarkable feats for a boy who is yet in his teens.

Presents Girl With Baseball.

In the second inning of a game between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh on Forbes field, Pittsburgh, a young lady in the grand stand stood up and made a nifty catch of a foul fly. So well did she perform the feat that Umpire Quigley very gracefully acknowledged her cleverness by presenting her with the ball after the inning was over.

ARE UNABLE TO CHECK TEUTONS

Russians and Roumanians Giving Ground.

VALIANT RESISTANCE USELESS

Unfavorable Weather Again Is Hampering Infantry Operations in Flanders, but the Artillery Fire Continues Most Intense—British Stage Isolated Action North of Lens.

London, Aug. 13.—Unfavorable weather again is hampering major operations in Flanders, but in Southern Moldavia the desperate fighting between the Russo-Roumanians and the Teutons continues with increasing ferocity.

Field Marshal von Mackensen is using strong forces in an endeavor to break through the entente line toward the railroad junction of Tecutechiu.

The Russians and Roumanians are resisting valiantly, but have been forced to give up, at least temporarily, their positions along the railroad line north of Fokshani.

The Russo-Roumanian retirement to the villages of Marascehti and Furtel, on the Sereth river, is reported by Petrograd. In counter attacks preceding their retreat the Russians and Roumanians took 1,200 German prisoners.

Berlin says that von Mackensen's troops withstood strong attacks and captured more than 6,700 prisoners, as well as eighteen cannon and sixty-one machine guns.

Force Roumanians to Retire.

Around Ocna, northwest of Fokshani, and near the Transylvanian border, there has been intense fighting, with the Teutons forcing a Roumanian retirement northward of Ocna.

As a counter move to the Tepton offensive the Russians have assumed the initiative in an attack at the confluence of the Buzey and Sereth rivers. Southeast of Fokshani and in the region of Galatz part of the Teuton positions were captured by the Russians, who also took some prisoners, four cannon and eight machine guns.

Elsewhere on the eastern front, in Northern Roumania, in Bukovina and on the Russo-Galician frontier there has been no marked activity.

The weather was wet and stormy in Flanders and there was little infantry activity, but the artillery firing continues to be most intense. In an isolated action north of Lens the British gained possession of a mine crater from the Germans.

STANDARD OIL SHIP SUNK

Captain and Four Members of Naval Guard Missing.

Washington, Aug. 13.—Sinking of the American steamer Campana, a Standard Oil tanker, with the probable capture of its captain and four members of the naval guard by the attacking German submarine, was announced by the navy department. The department issued this statement:

"The Standard Oil tanker Campana, American steamer, was sunk by a submarine on the morning of Aug. 6, 143 miles west of Ile de Re.

"Forty-seven survivors reached land in safety.

"It is believed the captain of the steamer and four of the armed guards are prisoners on board the German submarine."

The Campana was the thirty-eight. American merchant ship destroyed through the operations of German and Austrian submarines and raiders since the war began.

NO SIGNS OF EARLY PEACE

But Judge E. H. Gary Says Entente Will Triumph.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 13.—Judge E. H. Gary, head of the United States Steel corporation, sees no "signs of an early peace."

Judge and Mrs. Gary are here on a business and pleasure trip.

In speaking of the war situation Judge Gary said:

"It doesn't seem to me the allies can offer any terms the central powers could accept and I am even more certain the central powers cannot offer any terms which the allies would take."

"It is only a question of time when the allies must be successful," he continued. "The largest number of men and the largest purse eventually will bring victory and the allies have both."

MACHINES RETURN SAFELY

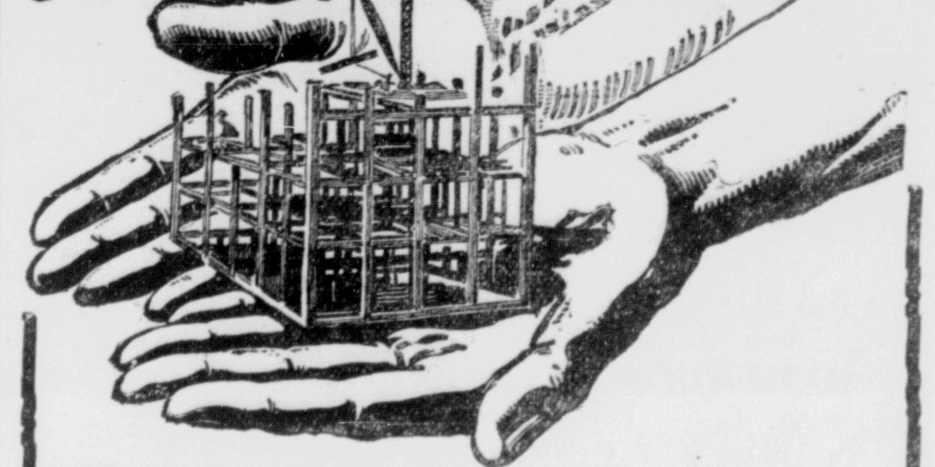

Two French Airmen Drop Bombs on German City.

Paris, Aug. 13.—Two French aviators dropped bombs on Frankfort-on-the-Main, one of the most important cities of the German empire, having a population of 300,000.

A French official statement announcing the raid says:

"In reply for the German bombardments of Nancy and the region of Paris two of our machines dropped bombs on Frankfort-on-the-Main. Both machines returned undamaged."

Certain-teed Roofing

Thru quality and sheer merit as a roofing material CERTAIN-TEED is now being used as the preferable type of roofing for sky-scrapers, factories, hotels, stores, warehouses, garages, farm buildings etc., where durability is necessary.

It is economical to buy, inexpensive to lay and costs practically nothing to maintain. It is weather-tight, light weight, clean, sanitary and fire-retardant. It is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply).

There are many roll roofings on the market, but only one CERTAIN-TEED. It pays to get the best. It costs no more to lay a CERTAIN-TEED roof than it does to lay a poor roof, but there is a vast difference in the wear. You can't tell the quality of a roofing by looks or feel. Your only safety is the label. Be sure that it is CERTAIN-TEED—then you are certain of quality and guaranteed satisfaction.

Certain-teed Slate-Surfaced Asphalt Shingles
